.....About the Clare Crusaders Children's Clinic—it provides free therapy and specialist treatment to over 350 children with special needs in County Clare and are a self financing service located in Barefield, Ennis. The Clinic receives no state funding and must raise over €250,000 per annum to provide the current level of therapy for children. The Clinic was opened in 2007 thanks to the dedication and hard work of a group of parents to overcome the lack of publicly available treatment for children with autism and cerebral palsy. It was a community response to the lack of access to services that children with disabilities need in order to meet their potential. Starting with one therapist, now there are 9 staff members delivering approximately 200 hours of therapy per week, catering for over 40% of children in County Clare with special needs. The Clinic is managed on a voluntary basis and does not charge for access to the therapists to ensure that anyone can access our supports.
