Something to think and pray about this week

Discerning the call
Lord, I believe You are calling me in all the circumstances of my life, but there are times when is difficult to recognise. The calling can sometimes come in a disagreeable shape, a sickness, bereavement, betrayal, loss of a job, a bout of insecurity. It does not look like a vocation but rather an unfortunate accident, of a failure on my part. But success is what I do with my failures. Each step on the way is part of God's calling. How do I handle deep distress?
