There are many reasons to join a men's shed. If you are someone who, after retiring, still has a lot to offer, you might want to share your skills with other men. Or if you have found yourself in need of a friend, there are countless reasons for joining a shed. Men's sheds are more than just woodwork or gardening, they are places where men can find meaning and purpose, where a friend is always there. In a men's shed we always say the greatest tool we have is the kettle, because there's nothing more powerful than a cup of tea and a chat.
